To whom it may concern:

I write to fully endorse Eric Nirine as a language instructor.

We have worked together for over six months. In that time, he has helped me in a variety of creative and often entertaining ways to absorb what for me is a difficult language. He is, however, far more than a person with an appealing style who happens to speak French. His knowledge of French grammar is comprehensive and deep. Further, he has a powerful command of foreign language pedagogy. He is a genuine teacher. He quickly assessed my (in)capabilities and customized an approach to help me consolidate what I already knew while inspiring further development.

I look forward to my weekly meetings with Eric. He is personable, professional sophisticated, and reliable. I have already referred Eric to another student who reports similar satisfaction with his teaching abilities.

With his help, I expect to be able to carry on serviceable conversations the next time I visit France.

Sincerely,

Art Pomponio
